Thelma Matson and Jane Palmer gathered outside to watch the solar eclipse.

Solar Eclipse

On April 8th, millions of people in the U.S. had the chance to witness the spectacle of a total solar eclipse, when the moon passed in front of the sun and darkened the sky. This astronomical event spanned across the continent from Mexico to northeastern Canada. In the path of totality, the darkness lasted up to 4 1/2 minutes, nearly twice as long as the total solar eclipse in 2017. Even though we were outside the main path of totality, we experienced a partial eclipse, where the moon partially blocked the sun. Residents and staff took to the lawn and parking lot to get a glimpse of this event.
